

Lyrics:

I sit alone here in the darkness,
wondering where my road will lead.
So many voices all around me,
yet none can reach my deepest need.
The world keeps moving all around me,
while everything inside stands still.
The colors faded from my life,
and nothing seems to break this chill.
I've been searching through the shadows,
looking for a place to belong.
Looking for hope, looking for answers,
looking for something all along.

Deep inside my heart a question rises,
is there more than what I see?
Is there someone who really knows me?
Is there someone calling me?
Then I hear a gentle whisper,
softly reaching through the night.
And in the middle of my darkness,
I see the first glimpse of the light.

I'm not the same anymore.
Your light entered my heart,
changing everything inside.
Your love found the broken places,
where I used to run and hide.
I'm not the same anymore.
You turned my darkness into morning,
you filled my soul with life again.
What began as just a small spark,
now burns brighter deep within.

Fear no longer has a hold on me,
hope is growing day by day.
The chains that once defined my future
are slowly fading away.
You show me who I really am,
chosen, loved and fully known.
The emptiness that lived within me
has become a place called home.
My eyes are open to new beauty,
my heart is learning how to see.
The light that once was just beginning is becoming part of me.

More and more your light surrounds me,
more and more your love remains.

What you started in my spirit
is transforming all my ways.

I'm not the same anymore.
Your light entered my heart,
changing everything inside.
Your love found the broken places,
where I used to run and hide.
I'm not the same anymore.
You turned my darkness into morning,
you filled my soul with life again.
What began as just a small spark,
now burns brighter deep within.

What began as a tiny ember
has become a living flame.
Every shadow keeps on fading
every time I speak your name.
People see a different future,
people see a different light.
Hope is rising in the darkness,
hearts are waking in the night.
One light ignites another light.
One heart awakens another heart.
One life surrendered to your love
becomes a brand-new start.
Not my power.
Not my strength.
Not the things that I have done.
It was your light.
It was your love.
It was you all along.

I'm not the same anymore.
Your light lives in me.
Your light lives in me.
The city shines a little brighter,
everywhere your love is seen.
Lives are changing,
hearts are healing,
more than I have ever dreamed.
I'm not the same anymore.
Your light lives in me.
Your light lives in me.
One light ignites another light.
Your light lives in me.
Your light lives in me.